TRAMP THIEVES IN PACIFIC, MO.

Medical Man Going to Aid Wounded
Is Forced to Give Up Buggy—Runs Into House and Empties Gun Into Fleeing Man.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4.—After mortally wounding Acting Marshal Al Kopf, of Pacific, Mo., thirty-five miles west of St. Louis, Charles Anderson, a "yeggman," or advance man for safe blowers and postoffice robbers, was himself shot Tuesday by a physician hurrying to Kopf's side, whose horse and buggy he demanded to escape in. Anderson is in the Pacific jail, hovering between life and death, Kopf died at noon.

Pacific was thrown into a turmoil by the swift consequences of the shootings, and every man who appeared in the streets went armed. Threats of lynching the yeggman died out when his condition was learned. Dr. A. L. McNay, the physician who wounded him and prevented his escape, was the hero of the hour.

Anderson and three companions, walking to St. Louis, approached Pacific at 8 a. m. Tuesday, quarreled and came to blows. Their loud words alarmed Mrs. Mary Lynde, who lives near the railroad, a quarter of a mile west of Pacific, and she telephoned for Kopf.

When the acting marshal approached the yeggmen, warned him away, declaring they would kill him if he interfered in their quarrel. Kopf pronounced them all under arrest as he approached to seize Anderson, one yeggman whipped forth a revolver and fired.

The bullet entered Kopf's breast, penetrated the pleural cavity and lodged near the spine. Anderson sped toward Pacific, his companions scattered and have not been caught.

Mrs. Lynde witnessed the shooting from a window of her home and telephoned for Dr. McNay. He jumped into his buggy with Michael Reitz, who happened to be in his office, and they lashed the horse toward the scene. On the way to Mrs. Lynde's home the buggy passed Dr. McNay's house, and was just in front of it when Anderson, panting from his long run, sprang into the center of the road, and, with leveled revolver, demanded that the men give up the horse and buggy.

"I've just shot a man," the yeggman told them, "and I've got to get away from here. Get out of that buggy, or I'll kill you, too."

The men climbed out of the buggy. Reitz sped toward the business district of Pacific, giving the alarm. Dr. McNay entered his home and procured a shot gun.

Instead of taking instant advantage of this, Anderson, seated in the buggy, with his revolver in one hand and the reins caught in the other, kept his eyes warily on Dr. McNay's house. Trees in front of the house sheltered him from fire from the front door, and he apparently waited for McNay's appearance to shoot at him.

From a front window Dr. McNay saw that Anderson was out of his range, and he went to the second story of the house, where, from a dormer window, he got the buggy within line of fire. Anderson saw him and shot on the instant, the bullet doing Dr. McNay no harm.

The physician took more deliberate aim and emptied both barrels of his shot gun.

The second charge struck Anderson on the left side of the head, totally destroying one eye. He fell unconscious, from the buggy, and the horse dashed down the street.

Thronged of armed men from the business part of the village, to whom Reitz had given the alarm, demanded Anderson's life as he was being carried to the jail. Examination there showed that he was probably fatally wounded and the men were quieted.

Dr. McNay went to the home of a Mrs. Powell, near Mrs. Lynde's home, whither the wounded marshal was taken, and attended him there.

Kopf was acting marshal in place of John Raby, who is away from Pacific on a vacation. He was 32 years old and had a wife and four children.

Anderson recovered consciousness

at the jail, and said he lives at 715½ Eighth street, Washington, D. C. He is 37 years old.

Dr. McNay is a middle aged practicing physician in Pacific. He was praised on all sides for his bravery in preventing Anderson's escape.

Mr. Parsons Gets a Patent.

J. W. Parsons, of Pleasant Green, who some time since invented a machine for measuring piece goods, has been notified through his attorney, A. L. Shortridge, that a patent has been granted.

It is claimed by the inventor that the machine will measure accurately any kind of piece goods, including laces and ribbons.

Mr. Parsons is now negotiating for the manufacturing of the machine.

WORK OF COUNTY COURT

A GRAND JURY WAS DRAWN TO SERVE AT THE NOVEMBER
TERM OF COURT.

CRIMINAL FEE BILLS OF $721.85

Assessment Levied Upon All of the Property of Railroad, Telegraph and Telephone Companies Today.

The judges of the Pettis county court are in session today and a considerable lot of business of a general interest was transacted.

The following grand jurymen were drawn to serve at the November term of criminal court:

S. E. Harvey, J. M. Curnutt, J. M. Baldwin, W. S. Sneed, C. L. Turner, Robert Ewers, C. O. Green, George Thornton, E. W. Shultz, A. J. White, Jacob Brandt and E. J. Evans.

The court allowed the criminal fee bills for the month of August, amounting to $721.85.

The court also levied an assessment upon the property of all railroads, telegraph and telephone companies, doing business in the county, including the roadbed, rolling stock and all other property made taxable by the law for the taxes of 1907, the following to be the rates:

State taxes on the $100 valuation	.....	$ .17

As the Democrat-Sentinel goes to press the judges are drawing the petit jury for the October term of court.

INCREASE WAS $227.38

Business is Booming With Mr. Codding at the Postoffice.

According to Postmaster Coddling's report, the amount of sales of stamps at the local office for the month of August was $227.38 more than the amount sold during August, 1906.

"I predict that within three months business will be overcrowded with business," remarked Mr. Coddling, speaking to several gentlemen.

"The strikes at the shops have been settled, new men are being employed, the force is being increased all along the line. With this change of things Sedalia is bound to bloom, and before long there will be more business than the merchants can attend to."

Body to Be Exhumed.

Topeka, Sept. 4.—Judge McPherson today ordered the body of the late Lucius H. Perkins, of Lawrence, Kansas, exhumed in the suit brought by the Mutual Life Insurance company, of New York, which asserted that Perkins killed himself for the insurance.

Died From Being Hit.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—Edward J. Wallis, a prominent business man of this city, died today from a crushed skull. He was found on the road near his home in the suburb Saturday night. He had evidently been struck by an automobile.

THE GOLF TOURNAMENT

LAST PLAYERS HAVE NOW QUAL-IFIED FOR THE OPEN

WELL TO REMEMBER THE DATES

First Round Sept. 6, 7, 9 and 10—Second Round Sept. 12, 13 and 14—
Third Round Sept. 16, 17 and 18—Finals Sept. 21st.

The last of the sixteen players to qualify for the open championship tournament having qualified on last Saturday, the list of those so qualified is here given.

The qualifying scores of the different players were made on the several Saturdays and Mondays, beginning on Saturday, May 4th. One of the following sixteen having made the best score on the Saturday or Monday on which he qualified:

1. W. J. Maltby.
2. L. L. Baenfritz.
3. G. B. Stotts.
4. W. M. Johns.
5. D. L. Porter.
6. Newton Cannon.
7. O. M. Barnett.
8. J. H. Rodas.
9. R. F. Harris.
10. T. J. Sturges.
11. G. A. Sturges.
12. Lee Montgomery.
13. Wm. Courtney.
14. W. H. Reynolds.
15. J. T. Montgomery.
16. J. S. Rogers.

The first round of this tournament will be played September 6th, 7th, 9th and 10th. That is, the two who play together are permitted to arrange their match for any one of the four days named.

The second round will be played September 12th, 13th and 14th.

The semi-finals or third round will be played September 16th, 17th and 18th.

The finals will be played Saturday, September 21st. The winner of the finals will be the club champion for the year.

Each match is for eighteen holes, match play. All score cards must be carefully kept, the rules of the game strictly followed, and the card handed to tournament committee or placed in the box at the club house.

Players may arrange for a referee if they so desire.

No. 1 will play the first round with No. 2, No. 3 with No. 4 and so through the list. The winner of the first pair will play with the winner of the second pair in the second round, and so down the list of winners, this plan being continued until but two winners remain, and they play in the finals.

$20 IN MITE BOXES

Taken Out at Missionary Meeting
Tuesday Afternoon.

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church held an enthusiastic meeting at the church parlors at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

A musical and literary program was rendered, being participated in by Miss Nettie Kennedy, who sang a vocal solo; Miss Gabriella Campbell, who recited; Misses Ruth Barrum and Nellie Shepard, who also recited.

The mite boxes were opened and $20 collected for state missionary work, making a total of $105 donated for the work by the society.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

HOLD MISSION FESTIVAL

At German Evangelical Church Sunday Night.

The members of the German Evangelical church will hold their mission festival at the church next Sunday. Rev. J. Irion, of St. Louis, president of the board for educational institutions of the church, will deliver the morning sermon, and Rev. E. Schmidt, of Buffalo, N. Y., secretary of foreign missions, will deliver the night sermon.

After the evening talk a stereopticon view of missionary work in India will be given and a large attendance is expected.

Mr. Fischer Much Better.

Adam Fischer, whose condition up to Tuesday was critical, is much improved today.

May Move Saturday Night.

District Manager Lincoln, of the Bell Telephone company, unless present plans are changed, as has occurred in the past, will remove into the company's new quarters on the second floor of the Elks' new home next Saturday night.

New equipment has been installed, and the present equipment in the Smith and Cotton building will be sold.

Will Meet in New Hall.

Sedalía camp No. 16, Woodmen of the World, will meet for the first time in their new hall in the Cassidy building tonight. Daniel C. Young, stationary fireman for the Katy, will be initiated.

FOLK IS TO BE WITNESS

GOVERNOR WILL TESTIFY BE-FORE ST. LOUIS COUNTY
GRAND JURY.

A SUBPOENA WAS SERVED TODAY

Chief Executive Says He Has No Personal Interest in the Famous Litigation One Way or the Other.

Jefferson City, Sept. 4.—Governor Polk will appear as a witness before the St. Louis county grand jury tomorrow. A subpoena was received yesterday by Sheriff John Scott. It was served upon the governor this morning. The subpoena, it is understood, was issued at the special request of Prosecuting Attorney Royland L. Johnston, and not at the instance of the grand jury.

Questioned concerning the matter, Governor Polk said he did not care to make any statement beyond the fact that he would appear before the inquisitorial body.

He declared that he had no personal interest in St. Louis county affairs one way or the other, except as an official desirous of seeing the law enforced. The state, he said, was represented in the person of Assistant Attorney General Kennish.

POLLY BRYANT HOWE

Was Arrested This Morning, but the Case Was Dismissed.

Polly Bryant Howe was arrested by Deputy Constable Phalings this morning, charged with threatening to kill Margaret Blake, a young girl.

The defendant was released on her own recognizance to appear in Judge Rickman's court at 3 o'clock this afternoon, but in the meantime George Anamosa, attorney for the Blake girl, appeared and asked that the case be dismissed, which was done, and the costs were taxed against the prosecuting witness.

The arrest grew out of a case that originated in Judge Rickman's court several weeks ago, when the Howe woman filed suit, through Attorney Bowron, for $84.60 against R. T. Hanna, a well known liveryman, charging that he owed her that amount for clothing she had made for Margaret Blake at Mr. Hanna's request.

The case was continued several times, and finally a change of venue was taken to Judge Leaming's court, where it was later dismissed, because the Blake woman had told in open court that she had never received any clothing from the Howe woman; further, that she had had nothing whatever to do with Mr. Hanna.

A number of witnesses, some well-known people in town, are subpoenaed in the case, and it will doubtless prove a rather interesting one for all concerned.

DYNAMITED A STORE

Explosion in Chicago Establishment
This Morning Did Much Damage.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—An explosion in the store of Stanley E. Graham, dealer in paints and wall paper, on North State street, at 3 o'clock this morning, wrecked the building and threw out of bed several persons who were asleep on the second floor, but none were injured. All the windows in the vicinity were broken. The explosion is attributed to dynamites, who are believed to be trying to avenge themselves upon the Chicago gamblers.

WHAT CAUSED A WRECK

ILLINOIS RAILROAD COMMISSION
BLAMES OPERATING SYSTEM.

IN FACT 'TIS NO "SYSTEM" AT ALL

Investigation That Has Just Been Held May Result in Legislation Covering the Operation of Lines.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4.—Absolute lack of any system of train dispatching such as is in use on the steam railroads and many interurban systems is given as the primary cause for the collision on the Charleston & Mattoon Interurban railroad near Charleston last Friday, where an express car and a passenger coach loaded with excursionists collided at a sharp curve in a cut near the crossing of the Interurban with the Clover Leaf road, and seventeen persons were killed or have died of their injuries, and sixty-five others were injured.

This is the report made by Commissioner Willoughby and Secretary Kilpatrick, of the state board of railroad commissioners to the board yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the board in their offices in the state house.

The board, who last Saturday conducted an investigation of the disaster at Charleston, in their report state that the Charleston & Mattoon Interurban railroad, which operates a line twelve miles in length, has no train dispatcher or system of train dispatching, and that the cars are run on a schedule given by word of mouth.

They find that the company has a small card about three inches in length on which are printed the schedules of the various cars, and that when a change is made from that schedule it is given in verbal orders from the superintendent to the motormen and conductors.

On Thursday, as is the regular custom, the cars had been running on a forty-five minute schedule, but on Friday, owing to a press of business on account of the Charleston fair, a number of extra cars had been put on and the schedule made thirty minutes instead of forty-five.

According to the report of Commissioner Willoughby and Secretary Kilpatrick, the motorman on the express car testified that the superintendent had not told him of the change to the thirty-minute schedule for Friday, and he supposed the cars were running on the forty-five minute schedule.

The superintendent of the road testified that he had told the motorman of the express car that the cars would be run on the thirty minute schedule on Friday and in this evidence he was corroborated by two helpers, who testified that they had heard the superintendent tell the motorman of the express car of the change in schedule.

The commissioners say that the management of the road objected to the employing of a train dispatcher, because it would involve the extra expense of another man.

The curve where the accident occurred is so sharp that it is impossible to see any distance ahead, and, in addition, this would be impossible, owing to the depth of the cut in which the curve is.

The railroad is heavily bonded, having a capital stock of $500,000 and a bonded debt of $500,000 in addition.

Owing to the accident, the railroad and warehouse commission adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved by the railroad and warehouse commission, That the secretary be and is hereby instructed to at once notify all of the interurban lines of railroad organized and operating under the laws of Illinois to furnish the department with such rules and regulations for the operation of cars and trains on their respective systems as they now have in force."

Election of Officers.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Teubner Tuesday afternoon and transacted the general order of business, and also made arrangements for the state convention which will be held here September 17 to 20.

The following officers were elected for the next six months:

President, Mrs. W. M. Alspaugh; vice president, Mrs. Ed Heckman; recording secretary, Mrs. Walter Kemp; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. E. Whitney; treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Teubner.

Miss Rankin Was Hostess.

Miss Till Rankin entertained four couples of friends at her home, 516 East Fifth street, last night, complimentary to Miss Hazel Patrick, a charming young lady of Council Grove, Kas., who is the guest of Mrs. Frank James, of 512 East Fifth street. Social converse and other amusements whiled away the time, and ice cream and cake were served.

Thirty Couples Danced.

Herman Kroencke and Herman Kueck gave an enjoyable dance to about thirty couples at the hall over the Sedalia Printing company last night. There were fifteen dancing numbers, the affair being concluded at the midnight hour.

PAID $50 FOR A MURDER

HIRED NEGRO TO KILL WIDOW IN ORDER TO SAVE HIS AGED FATHER.

THE LATTER WAS "INFATUATED"

Louisiana Man Who Plotted Crime
Carried Out by Negro Pleads Unwritten Law Down in Louisiana.

Homer, La., Sept. 4.—To prevent his father from deserting his family and cloping with a beautiful widow, Benjamin Baucum hired a negro to murder her.

The negro, Green, Cooper, stood outside the house in the darkness and shot through a window, killing the widow and the baby in her arms.

Baucum and the negro are in jail here and both have confessed. There is talk of lynching the negro. A great many persons pity Baucum.

The murdered widow, Lennie Bond, was 35 years old. She was the most beautiful woman in the parish. She lived alone with her son, 5 years old. Dr. James Baucum, father of the young man in jail, is 60 years old and lives with his wife and six children. The story told by the son is as follows:

"I discovered that father was in love with Mrs. Bond and that they had planned for him to desert my mother and the children."

Then he and the widow would run away together and be married.

"I went to Mrs. Bond about it and pleaded with her to give up my father. She denied that she had any intention of eloping. But I knew better. I pointed out to her that she was only 35 years old, while my father was 60, and that this discrepancy in their ages would prevent them from being happy."

"Then I pleaded with my father. He admitted that he loved the widow so that he could not give her up. He told me to keep silent about it. I saw that he was infatuated with her. She seemed to have hypnotized him so that she could control him as she wished."

"I saw there was scandal and disgrace ahead. I thought of the unwritten law. If such a law permits a woman to avenge the betrayal of her honor, why don't it permit a son to avenge the betrayal of his father by a woman?"

The young man admits that he paid the negro $50 to do the shooting and the negro confessed he did it.

Dr. Baucum was the most prominent doctor here.

GOOD GAME PROMISED

That Between Smithton and Otterville Saturday.

What promises to be the warmest and most hotly contested game of ball ever played on the Smithton diamond, owing to the intense rivalry between the two towns, will take place Saturday, Sept. 7th, when the Otterville ball club goes to Smithton to play the deciding game of a series, each nine having won a game on its own grounds.

The Otterville club, with its own players, is hardly strong enough to match the Smithton nine, and will secure some outside talent to assist them on this occasion.

The Smithton club has met and defeated some of the strongest amateur clubs in Central Missouri this summer, and is not feeling the least bit uneasy about the result of Saturday's contest. Sedalians wishing to witness the game can do so and return home on the 5 o'clock train.

THE SUIT IS SENSATIONAL

"HAT FILED BY JOHN F. DELA-NEY, CITY ATTORNEY AT CLINTON, MO.

DEMANDS MANDAMUS ON THE CITY

Did Not Attend Council Meetings,
for Which He Was Fined, and the Fines Were Deducted From Monthly Salary.

Probably the most remarkable document ever filed in a circuit court in Missouri was the mandamus petition of John F. Delaney, which was served on the mayor and council this morning, says Tuesday's Clinton Democrat.

The language is lurid and emphatic in the extreme.

It will be recalled that Mr. Delaney was or is our city attorney—that is what this suit is to settle. The council demanded his attendance at its sessions, fined him for refusal to attend, and then withheld the amount of his fines from his salary.

Delaney brought a mandamus suit to compel the payment of his salary; and the council later voted to suspend him pending a formal trial. The senators, however, have not been in a hurry to try the attorney, hence he brings this mandamus case to force the issue.

The mildest of his charges against the powers that be is that he has been annoyed and harassed in the performance of his official duties, and he has been deprived of his official power by the employment of other attorneys to do his work; that prosecutions have been instituted without his approval on frivolous charges, and they have sought to compel him to abandon prosecutions already begun.

He alleges the defendants attempted to have plaintiff illegally prosecute political opponents in violation of law, and they threatened to remove plaintiff unless he prostituted his official power and authority to the purposes of defendants.

Other charges of a grave character are made, which will certainly demand the fullest hearing in justice to Mr. Delaney and the defendants.

Further in the petition he recites the delay of the council and committee in investigating the charges made against him, and his suspension without notice or opportunity to make a defense. He declares the charges were invented for the purpose of depriving him of his office.

He finally asks Judge Denton to issue an order of mandamus to the city council directing his restoration to the office of city attorney to which he was elected.

A FAREWELL RECEPTION

It Was Tendered Col. and Mrs. Van
B. Wisker Last Night.

The deacons and trustees of the First Congregational church, accompanied by their wives, also the pastor, Rev. James Parsons, his wife, and a few outside friends, assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Whitney, 1603 South Kentucky avenue, last night, to say farewell to Col. and Mrs. Van B. Wisker, who left this afternoon for the Pacific coast, where they will reside permanently.

The guests began to arrive at 7:30 o'clock, and for three hours they enjoyed themselves in pleasant reminiscences of the past.

Late in the evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, after which the guests departed for their homes, wishing Col. and Mrs. Wisker continued prosperity in their new abode in the far west.

Col. Wisker and wife came to Sedalia from Green Ridge about fourteen years ago, since which time they have won and retained the esteem and respect of hundreds of Sedalians, all of whom regret to see them leave the Queen City to take up their abode elsewhere.

WILL SPEAK IN NEW YORK

W. J. Bryan Will Begin a Tour of the State in October.

New York, Sept. 4.—It was announced here today that W. J. Bryan will begin a tour of speech-making in New York early in October under the auspices of the New York Progressive Democratic League.

W. S. COWHERD FOR GOVERNOR.

The democracy of Missouri need not look long for a candidate for governor of the state, nor need it select an unknown of untried man for the place.

With reasonable foresight and calm judgment exercised, the question can speedily be settled and settled so wisely that the result will be a distinct advantage to the party and at the same time assure the state a chief executive of such ability and uprightness that every citizen, regardless of party, will acknowledge his patriotism, and be glad to know that he occupies the highest office within their gift.

What is needed now is a clear-
headed, conservative, honest man, thoroughly devoted to democratic principles and to his people, and one,
too, who is not a novice in public affairs, but instead possesses that knowledge of statecraft that can be gained only by experience in passing upon questions of public concern.

Among all the men who have been mentioned for the place it can very honestly be said that none possess
all the requirements to such a degree as Hon. W. S. Cowherd, of Kansas City.

Mr. Cowherd is undoubtedly one of Missouri's ablest sons. Through all the years in which he was a member of congress no whisper against either his character or ability was ever heard, and his brave and fearless advocacy of the principles of democracy upon the floor of the house
aroused the admiration of his fellow members, as well as of the people at large, his work making his name a household word, not only in Missouri,
but throughout the entire nation.

At home, in both his political and private life he has always stood for the better things, and the fierce light that is always turned upon those in the public eye has never revealed ought to his discredit either as a citizen or servant of the people.

He has not been nor is he now attached with any so-called wing or faction of his party, contenting himself with being at all times simply a democrat, laboring for the best interests of all, and in consequence he would unite the entire party in its struggle for supremacy in the state.
He is clean, able, courageous, and in the campaign that would follow his nomination his well known ability as an orator and his powers as a debater would add tremendously to the vote-getting work for the entire ticket, and undoubtedly would place
the state again in the hands of democracy, where it rightfully belongs.

The Democrat-Sentinel doesn't know that Mr. Cowherd wants the nomination, or that he would even accept it, but it does know that he is the man of all men in the state to bring about a thoroughly united party,
to wage a winning fight, and when elected, would be a governor who would rank with those illustrious ones, whose names, covered

WINTER AND THE COAL SUPPLY.

The arrival of September repeats
the annual notice to the householders that it is again time to prepare for cold weather and look to the winter's fuel supply. At the beginning of fall
it is always an interesting question
as to what the prices and supply of coal will be. Many consumers purchase their coal in the spring, when certain reductions in prices are made,
others buy during the summer while the price is still low, but the great majority of people buy fuel in the fall and throughout the winter.

There is no prospect this year for cheaper fuel than in past years. In fact, the probability is that it will be fully as high, if not higher, than last winter. Within the next thirty to sixty days soft coal will be advanced at least once and possibly twice.
Next month it will be selling at an advance of 25 to 50 per cent above present quotations, while during the winter it will likely be still higher.

These statements are, of course,
contingent upon general fuel conditions over the country as they develop during the winter. In this connection the situation now is not wholly reassuring. There is a tremendous demand for coal in the west and the northwest. In fact, it is so heavy that some of the railroads have been compelled to buy coal in foreign markets and ship it to this country.
In addition, it is reported that the commercial supply of the northwest is wholly inadequate to meet the de-

ability the railroads will be confront-

last year in furnishing it with fuel.

The railroads themselves will re-

A SUMMER SCHOOL COOK

AT URSINUS COLLEGE BESTED
AFTER A LONG AND HARD STRUGGLE.

HE GAVE PROFESSORS "LEAVINGS"

Insisted on Being Called "Chef." and Gave the Best That Was Prepared to His Special Class Boarders.

Collegeville, Pa., Sept. 4.—Glorious victory has perched upon the Ursinus
colors, for the faculty of the institution's summer school has at last revolted against the cook and squelched him. But the victory followed a battle of no mean proportions.

Ursinus has a cook who demands that he be addressed as "Chef," and who gets a salary as big as a professor's, for he is an expert in his line. The professors liked good eating as well as anybody, and they were willing to put up with a good deal for the sake of it, but when the cook turned them out of their quarters to make room for his boarders they rebelled.

During the summer some of the college buildings are converted into summer boarding houses, under the management of the cook. It was understood, however, that the summer faculty and students should have their usual quarters without molestation. During the past summer, however, it is charged, the cook, wanting more room for his boarders, turned both professors and students out of their rooms and made them take less pleasant quarters.

As if this were not enough, the professors declare, the cook reserved
the best of the cooking for his boarders, and the professors and the students got the "leavings." Then they rebelled and sent a round robin to the directors. The latter thought the thing was a joke and had a good deal of fun over it. The professors insisted on an investigation and the result is that hereafter the summer boarding house feature will be cut out. But nobody has yet turned up who is willing to fire the cook.

They were legally married a month,

Nothing Else to Do.

Several teachers who were assigned to the city playgrounds were discussing the amusing and diversified ambitions of the tots in their charge as to what they hope to be when they "grow up." A teacher told of one little girl who in all sincerity gave her a reply that was not likely to make her vain. "Would you like to teach children when you become a young lady?" was the question. "No, m," was the emphatic reply. "What would you like to do?" persisted the teacher.
"If I am pretty I'll be an actress," came the answer. "But suppose you are homely?" asked the teacher.
"Well, then, of course I'll have to be a teacher," said the child.—Philadel-

Power of the Waves.

The power of waves, says M. Brown-in, in La Nature, is the sum of two efforts, one dynamic and due to the orbital movement of the water particles,
the other static, and dependent on the height of the center of gravity of the mass raised above its normal position.
Theory and observation seem to show that the total power of waves is divided equally between these static and dynamic effects. If a body of water meets the wall of a structure there is a shock, and this is most violent at the water surface, diminishing with the depth. At the moment of meeting jets of water rise sometimes to very great heights.

AN OHIO ENOCH ARDEN

Has Picked Up and Struck Out for the Second Time.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Henry Keefer, who several weeks ago played the role of Enoch Arden in returning to his wife at Clarington, Ohio, after an absence dating from the steamer Sciotto disaster, 2 years ago, has picked up his belongings
and left again for parts unknown.

Keefer was supposed to have been killed in the steamboat disaster. The reason for his leaving home this time
is said to have been because Mrs.
Keefer would not deed him a portion of her estate, she being quite wealthy.

Samuel Dixon, who had been married to Mrs. Keefer almost ever since the first husband's departure has again resumed domestic relations,
and thus a new chapter is recorded.

"NAUGHTY" COW MOOSE

SHE WAS SPANKED WITH A BARREL STAVE AND THINGS HAPPENED.

WRECKED A TENDERFOOT'S CAMP

Sent the Old Gentleman Sprawling.
After Which Two Women Were Compelled to Seek Safety by Climbing Tree.

Patten, Me., Sept. 4.—A tenderfoot sportsman, who didn't know any better, slapped a cow moose on the rump with a barrel stave and then wondered why the indignant forest matron wrecked his camp, chased two pretty women up a tree and terrorized the entire party until the guide returned.

The foolhardy sportsman was L. B. Longstreet, of Boston. One of the women was his wife and the other, Miss Alice Fisher, his niece. In company with J. T. Barbour, also of Boston, Mr. Longstreet pitched camp in the moose timber a fortnight ago to study nature and fish.

Mr. Barbour and the guide had left camp for an afternoon's trouting, when Mrs. Longstreet reported to her husband that a strange animal, looking something like a cow, was trampling the croquet ground in the rear of the tents.

Mr. Longstreet removed his glasses, placed them in his pocket and swatted the offending moose where he would have applied a spank to a disobedient child. Next instant he received a solar plexus blow that sent him sprawling.

Mrs. Longstreet shouted in fright. The shout was extremely ill-advised, for it attracted the attention of Mrs. Moose to her, and with a low, hollow bellow, she gave chase. The pursued women saw little chance in flight, so they negotiated two low-limbed spruces, where they clung panting and shrieking, while Mr. Longstreet shinned another.

Being unable to reach the trio the moose started in to wreck the camp, and she made a good job of it.

For a couple of hours the party remained there. Then the guide and Mr. Barbour appeared. The guide took in the situation from a distance and managed to sneak up to the overturned tents unobserved. Procuring a two-foot looking glass from Miss Fisher's "boudoir," he got a line on the descending sun and flashed the rays upon the moose. The effect was instantaneous. The animal started, blinked, turned tail and ran, calling to her young to follow.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite, but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in a fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. ## BLEW HIS SON'S HEAD OFF

Killing Followed Quarrel Over Team of Mules.

Portageville, Mo., Sept. 4.—John Sanders, 60 years old, Sunday blew off the head of his son, John Sanders, Jr., 30 years old, with a shotgun, the father firing at close range.

The Saunderses live four miles from Portageville.

The shooting followed a quarrel over a team of mules.

There were no witnesses to the shooting. The body of the son was found in the yard and a shotgun lay beside him.

Sanders, Sr., said his son was advancing upon him with the gun half way to his shoulder when he fired.

At the coroner's inquest the elder man was exonerated by the jury, as the evidence showed he had shot in self-defense.

The father is a widower, while the son was married and the father of three children.

The invitation was curtly denied, owing to the fact that nonunion carpenters had been employed in the erection of the church.

Kashgaria.

There are few places in the world so difficult to get at as Kashgaria. Though it lies in Chinese territory the journey from Peking occupies no less than six months. From India caravans take two months, having to cross meanwhile the three highest mountain ranges in the world by way of several passes measuring 18,000 feet above sea level.

Then from the tailend of the Russian railway system in Central Asia one may reach Kashgar in three weeks by several routes, all involving the transit of difficult and storm-swept passes.

Kashgaria is said to cover an area of 350,000 square miles—a statement that has little interest until considered in relation to the proportion which is cultivated by man. It is startling to relate that human endeavor has been capable of rendering fertile little more than a hundredth part and that ninety-nine hundredths of it is irredeemable desert.

Thatched Roofs In London.

Every cabman knows that there is a thatched house in St. James's street, although the name is a bare tradition of a long departed roofing. Like wooden houses, thatched roofs are rare in London.

There is a beautiful specimen in Chamberwell green, not far from Chamberwell street. It is embedded in the richest foliage and clad in ivy. The thatching is of ancient date, in good repair and evidently the work of a highly skilled thatcher. At the beginning of the grove is a very old inn called the Plough, which retains all the main features with which it was invested some 300 years ago.—London Evening Standard.

CHICAGO NEWS LETTER

REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—When 100,000 men stopped work at the Union Stock yards last week during the funeral of Nelson Morris, the millionaire packer, they did honor to a man who was so poor fifty years ago that he had to walk from Michigan City to Chicago when the captain of the Buffalo boat he was working his passage on decided not to make the full trip. That was in the days before the railroads. Also before the plucky lad from the Black forest had set eyes on the first steer of the millions that were destined to pass through his plant. With his death passes the last of the great Chicago pioneers. Old "Nels" Morris had as big a hand as any of them in shaping the history of the middle west. His packing plant that he built in 1874 was the first of its kind in Chicago. Since it was started he slaughtered over 12,000,000 steers, so many that if driven round the world in single file the first steer would be back at the stock yards before the last had passed out through the gates. The total of hogs and sheep is greater yet and all the animals slaughtered would be enough in fact to keep every man, woman and child in North America supplied with meat for a year.

But this is not what the "men at the yards" are thinking about. They are telling stories of the kindness of the old meat packer and anecdotes about his personal life. "If 'Nels' Morris ate a beefsteak he could tell you from what part of the country came the steer from which it was cut," said one of the men. "I remember he used to say 'money is no good to a man unless he maintains the power of enjoyment,' added another. Although the shrewd financier and business man left a fortune of from twenty to thirty millions of dollars, he still lived, at the time of his death, in a dingy little wooden house on Indiana avenue, which for years has been a landmark for the people in that region. Several times he started to build a house more in keeping with his position, but each time he tore up the plans at the last moment. "This was my first Chicago home," he told his friends in explanation, "and if I leave it I'm afraid I'll lose my luck."

"Shadowing the sleuths who shadow the mayor" might be the involved title of a political comedy which is holding the attention of three sets of detectives in Chicago. Set No. 3 tell, in whispers, what set No. 2 are doing to set No. 1, which they say are dogging the footsteps of Mayor Busse "for ends political in behalf of Governor Deneen," democrats are saying. One feels creepy imagining the plot, counter plot and counter-counter plot that must take place. If the stories be true, every time Mayor Busse goes out for a meal, imagine the eyes that watch him every night through window or keyhole. He, however, treats it with disarming cheerfulness. He says he can take care of himself if he finds any one trailing him. Chief of Police Shippy, Corporation Counsel Brundage and Commissioner of Public

The pages in the life of John E. Wilkie, chief of the United States secret service, were turned backward to the chapter, "Wilkie: Star Reporter," when the press club of Chicago last week gave a reception to his mother, Mrs. Frances B. Wilkie, whom the older members call the "Mother of the Press club." Members of the staff of the old Chicago Times made the event a reunion, for Wilkie began reportorial work with them in 1877, though he later went to the Tribune and became city editor during the world's fair year. He was first president of the Press club, which now has a membership of over 1,100, including scores of non-residents who wear its button as a badge of honor. There recently have been added hundreds of new members in preparation for the purchase of the University club building for $160,000 as a home. Many notable men have been entertained by the club, which has been Chicago's inner temple since Wilkie was president. They include among others McKinley, Riley, Schley, Hobson, Keene, Weng Ching Foo, Bryan and Fairbanks.

The sartorial edict of the tailors' convention in Chicago last week was that man would now have to wear "it." Down in Michigan avenue "it" has already appeared; there are said to be "kangaroo" forms seen by night—the ultra-ultras practicing. Not the bustle that made Chicago famous, the other kind, that cos's more if extra padded, the artifice of women back in 1690 or so. Yes, the bustle, to make the human form over into the approved shape of the kangaroo. Eastern tailors exhibited goods of a pattern like fields of snow criss-crossed by muddy roads. Other favorite colors were wagon-box green, cigar brown, sporting edition pink and scrambled egg chrome. The word has been said, too, by the arbiters of sartorial art as to how high trousers may be correctly turned up, and as to the time when dinner clothes must be doctored, no matter where or how, that time being 4 in the afternoon.

To attain a "smokeless Chicago" the present administration seems seriously to have taken up cudgels for the electrifying of the terminals of the nineteen railroads that enter the city, a task which promises important results. Banishing steam for electric locomotives will also banish the pall of smoke which changes Chicago's empyrean blue to brown and which keeps its linen continually in the wash. But it means the displacement of so many million dollars' worth of equipment that the nineteen railroads will have cause to make a stubborn fight. However, the fight is on, now, for the delegation of city officials, headed by the mayor, who went to New York to see the results of electrification there, reported favorably, even enthusiastically. If the Chicago council agrees to invite Vice President W. J. Wilgus, of the New York Central, to prepare a plan for electrification, it is likely that the same ban will be put on smoking locomotives all over the country. It is regarded as the first step toward the general electrification of the railways' motive power. Therefore the electrifying of Chicago terminals will not be accomplished easily. At this time the railroads are having to expend here millions of dollars on track elevation, and they assert that the smoke nuisance can be abated without changing motive power.

Thanks be, the Evanston ghost has been laid. That "spook" will haunt no more—it's in captivity. For three months it was seen by too many people to be doubted, and to the flower of culture and intellectuality in the suburb that surrounds Northwestern university it gave cold shudders and superstitious dread. College professors who when calling marshaled fact and logic to discredit ghosts of all kinds, when on their dark way home have ignominiously taken to their heels, peep-eyed at what they had seen in some vacant houses and shivering at what they had heard. The high standing of Northwestern university throughout the world of education was assailed by the reports of a mere ghost almost in the shadows of its halls that could not be "exposed" by the faculty. Now, however, all trouble is past; the "ghost," when captured, proved to be a demented domestic who had disappeared mysteriously. She was found crouching in the dark in one of the "haunted" houses.

thought what a far cry it was from Clark street to the post he had just left, on the Island of Mauritius, in the Indian ocean. By an odd freak of fate, at the same moment Henry D. Baker, son of a former president of the Board of Trade, had just received word that he was to be sent from Chicago to Tasmania, as United States consul at that point. Tasmania and Mauritius are in a sense neighbors in their mutual remoteness from the Windy City. The Baron de Saint Laurent is a veteran of the French service, who won distinction during the conquest of Madagascar. He takes the place of M. Merou, who has been transferred to San Francisco. Mr. Baker is the first man to receive an appointment under the new consular law, which was passed as a result of the efforts of the National Business League of America to get the United States consular appointments out of politics and to raise the standard of the service. The examination he took was a stiff one; out of thirty-eight candidates only thirteen passed.

A mahogany monument to Father Marquette and Louis Joliet, the explorers, will be erected at the spot where they set foot on Chicago soil 234 years ago, in 1673. It is expected that the city will make a gift of the site, on the bank of the south fork of the Ohio river. This memorial is in line with the recognition planned for Samuel Champlain, who penetrated the great solitudes of Canada at a date many years before Marquette and Joliet set out on their travels.

When Henry Wulff, former state treasurer of Illinois, was released from the Chicago bridewell last week, after eighteen months of imprisonment for supposed complicity in the defalcation of his deputy when he was clerk of Cook county, his reception was not a welcome to one held guilty. Following a public "welcome home" gathering that numbered a thousand persons, his old homestead, lost when he made good the deputy's defalcation, was given back to him by friends who made up the purse to restore it. The welcome home meeting was most dramatic, for treachery was publicly charged as the reason for Mr. Wulff's imprisonment when he pleaded guilty to shield another. Mr. Wulff tried to talk to the throng, but broke down and sobbed like a child.

The Business Tide Is Still Rising

Five years ago timid business men, all over the world, felt that the tide of business prosperity must soon turn—that the pendulum must shortly swing backward to the other side—that rising values, extensive investments of saving funds, the enormous increase in volume of business in every line, must bring the dreaded reaction; must bring "hard times."

There are not so many of these timid people now—but there are still some who are afraid of their own shadows in a business way; and who see evil portent in every speck on the business horizon.

A great man once defined a pessimist as "one who sees two evils where but one exists, AND ACCEPTS THEM BOTH." Occasionally a merchant justifies this definition.

The real BUSINESS OPTIMIST is he who refuses to see even one evil where two exist—or to accept either.

As a matter of fact, the wisest business men (not the most optimistic—but the most far-seeing) believe, at the present moment, that BUSINESS FLOOD-TIDE IS A LIFE-TIME AWAY!

With the usual harmless fluctuations, BUSINESS IS GOING TO BE BETTER AND BETTER EVERY YEAR FOR THE REST OF OUR NATURAL LIVES—so that WE should not spend much time worrying about what we will do when "hard times" come again. AND, as always, in good and poor times, . . . . .

THE MERCHANT WHO ADVERTISES MOST JUDICIOUSLY IS GOING TO BE THE BIGGEST MERCHANT IN HIS LINE; AND THE ONE WHO IS "NEXT BEST" IN ADVERTISING WILL BE "NEXT BEST" IN STANDING AND PROSPERITY.

REPUBLICANS WILL MEET

State Central Committee in Session on September 12

St. Louis, Sept. 4.—A special meeting of the republican state central committee will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, September 12, at the headquarters here. Official calls for the meeting were sent out yesterday by Chairman Niedringhaus. Plans for the campaign of 1908 will be discussed.

Chairman Niedringhaus is said to be scheduled to resign in favor of Walter S. Dickey, of Kansas City, now chairman of the executive committee, who will be a candidate for state chairman at the direct primaries August 4, 1908.

Friends of Mr. Niedringhaus say his resignation is for the purpose of putting him in line for the national committee chairmanship and the 1908 senatorial contest—in fact, that he wants "Tom" Atkins' job.

A POPULAR LAMENT.

Where Would Society Be if One Was Judged for the Sins of Others?

"Oh, I tried one of those hair tonics sometime ago and it never did me a bit of good."

That's what many people are saying today when they refuse Herpicide a trial.

It would be as sensible to say, "I never travel on a railroad because I see collisions mentioned in the papers."

Newbro's Herpicide is specially made to destroy the germ that is living on the roots of your hair.

That is why it is so exceedingly efficacious—it is there for the sole purpose of ridding the hair of this parasitic growth, after which the hair grows as nature intended.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. W. E. Bard Drug Co. special agents.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Receiver Rosenfeld sold at auction yesterday at Marcette the Delvin Coal Mining properties for $221,000, which amount is only twenty thousand in excess of one quarter of the receiver's appraisal of the property at the time of the sensational failure of Delvin. The purchasers were Walsh Bros., of Davenport, Burlington and Clinton, Iowa. They say they expect to develop the mines to their full capacity.

SHOT A NEGRO IN COURT

PLAINTIFF'S HUSBAND FIRED AT THE NEGRO AT LATHROP, MISSOURI.

PRELIMINARY HEARING WAS "ON"

Garland Carter, Whose Wife Arthur Tillman Is Charged With Trying to Kill, Shot the Defendant Twice Tuesday.

Lathrop, Mo., Sept. 4.—While his wife was testifying in Justice Greene's court yesterday against a negro, Arthur Tillman, charged with trying to kill her with a shot gun, Garland Carter shot and fatally wounded Tillman.

Three shots were fired by Carter from a heavy revolver. The first went into the ceiling, the second shattered one of Tillman's legs and the third went into his back and pierced one of his lungs.

No one was injured in the panic which followed, although there was a lively scramble for the doors of the court room. Carter was arrested and his bond was fixed at $5,000. Whites and negroes are greatly excited over the shooting and it is feared that there will be further trouble.

Carter is a farmer and lives a mile and a half from Lathrop. About three weeks ago a house in Lathrop was robbed. That night Tillman went to the Carter house, where his cousin is employed as a servant and tried to get in, it is said. Mrs. Carter ordered him away.

August 16, according to the charge, Tillman returned to the Carter house.

Mrs. Carter says that he carried a shot gun and had it leveled at her from behind a fence, when the barking of a dog attracted her attention and frightened Tillman. Tillman fled and Mrs. Carter ran to a neighbor's house. Tillman was arrested last Saturday.

Last night the city jail in which Tillman was confined was fired upon by unknown persons, who evidently sought to kill the negro. None of the prisoners, however, was injured.

WILL NOT EVEN PARLEY

The Western Union Telegraph Company Stands Pat.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Officials of the Western Union Telegraph company will not meet a committee selected from the ranks of their striking operators sent to New York to negotiate a settlement of the strike. This was made clear in an announcement of T. E. Cook, general superintendent of the Western Union company, yesterday.

"The directors meet every week in the general offices of the company in New York," said Mr. Cook. "The annual meeting of the directors does not occur until October and I am reliably informed that the strike question will not be discussed at that meeting. We will not be drawn into a controversy with our ex-employees over the question of a settlement of disagreements that we did not create."

WIFE MURDERER'S CORPSE

Throat Cut With the Knife With Which He Had Slain Her.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 4.—The body of Benson Hicks, who killed his wife by cutting her throat after a terrible struggle in a garden on his farm near this city, was found yesterday in a thicket half a mile from the scene of the murder.

He had cut his own throat with the penknife he had used in killing his wife. The rusted blade of the knife, which was clenched in his right hand, told the story of suicide committed some days ago.

Hicks' stepsister had been held for trial as an accessory after the murder. She said that late on the night of the murder some one pounded on the door for admittance, but she did not open it. Hicks had accused his wife of going away secretly with other men, and the stepsister told the coroner that the accusation was just.

BOY SAVED BY A TREE

Dangled From End of Rope as a Balloon Went Up.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 4.—An exciting scene was witnessed by 10,000 panic-stricken people at the Labor day celebration at Swinney park in this city.

Miss Mabel Davenport was making a balloon ascension when William Roefling, aged 12, got caught in a rope and was carried about seventy feet above the ground.

The rope swung him into the branches of a towering tree and he clutched a small limb and swung back and forth until he mustered enough strength to wrap his legs about the slender branches. The breathless crowd expected him to drop any moment to instant death, as he swung head downward.

Four men, under command of Officer Bolgen, climbed the tree and one of them threw a rope noose around the body of the boy and he released his hold on the limb. He dropped twenty feet, but was brought up short by the rope and was then lowered to the ground unhurt. He was taken home in an ambulance, weak and exhausted.

BLAMED FOR BAD WRECK

NEW YORK CENTRAL'S GENERAL MANAGER MUST NOW STAND TRIAL.

IS CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Trial Grows Out of the Wrecking of an Electric Train at Woodlawn, New York, on the 16th of February Last.

New York, Sept. 4.—Alfred H. Smith vice president and general manager of the New York Central railroad must stand trial on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree, growing out of the wreck of an electric train on the Harlem railroad at Woodlawn on February 16, last, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Geigerich.

The decision overrules a demurrer made by Mr. Smith to an indictment charging him with being responsible for the death of Clara L. Hudson, who was one of more than a score of passengers killed in the wreck.

Smith contended that as general manager he could not take personal supervision of the road, but Justice Geigerich holds otherwise.

PARADE AND SHOW TOMORROW

Gentry's Dog and Pony Show to Give Two Performances at Park.

The Gentry dog and pony show will arrive early in the morning and the youngsters will have to get up early, too, if they see the show unloaded.

The parade will leave the show grounds at Liberty park at 10:30 a. m. and a line of march will be picked over the principal streets and returning to the show lot. The afternoon performance will commence at 2:30 and the night performance at 8 o'clock. However, the doors will be open an hour earlier to allow inspection of the menagerie and the stables where all the prize animals are kept.

Many years of success have crowned the Gentry Bros. efforts to provide a clean and entertaining amusement and the performance presented by this company can be attended with profit and pleasure by old and young.

Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 4.—John Bowen was placed under arrest yesterday charged with the murder of his wife. Mrs. Bowen died Monday afternoon, and the undue haste of Bowen to have the burial take place aroused the suspicions of neighbors, who claim that Bowen had often abused his wife.

The police were notified and a post-mortem examination was held. The physicians claim that the woman had been strangled to death, and it is said that finger prints can be seen upon the woman's throat.

Bowen refuses to discuss the matter. He was making preparations to leave the city when arrested, it is said.

STARS ON COINS AND FLAG.

Little Heraldry Lore Shown in the Five and Six Points.

The stars on the great seal and the seal of the president of the United States are five-pointed, while on the seal of the house of representatives they are six-pointed. The 13 stars on the obverse of the present half and quarter dollar are five-pointed. The reverse of the present half and quarter dollar is a copy of the great seal, except that the clouds are omitted. It is evident that heraldry has not taken a very strong hold in these matters in the United States, therefore it is not in the power of anyone to say without a doubt why the difference in the stars on the flag and the coins. So far as is known, with the exception of the reverse of the present half and quarter dollar, the stars on American coins are copied from the colonial coins, which were, no doubt, made after the manner of English heraldry, while the flag was made up after the design of Washington's coat-of-arms, containing three five-pointed stars.

Mixed His Quaker.

Former Representative Charles T. Cherry was telling some men at Springfield the other day of a baggage man in an Illinois town to which a number of influential Quakers were coming. The baggage man conceived the idea that if the visitors thought he, too, was a Quaker business might be helped thereby. Consequently, upon the arrival of the delegation at the station the leader was greeted by the baggage man, who solicitously asked: "Has thou the checks for thou baggage?" And yet he wondered why the Quakers smiled.

HAMMERS USED BY POLICE

To Batter Down the Saloon Doors at Muncie, Ind.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 4.—The doors to rooms at the Delaware bar, the finest saloon in this city, reputed to be the costliest place of the kind in Eastern Indiana, were hammered down with sledges late Monday night, while 250 people watched the police do the work.

A dozen men were found in a hall over the saloon, and when the police walk in one of them was making a vigorous Labor day speech. This will be used as evidence that it was a meeting of the Labor day celebration committee.

However, the police claim that this was but a ruse and the proprietor, Charles Gwynup, will be prosecuted on the charge of violating the "blind tiger" law. Gwynup is a well-known sporting man. He will make a vigorous defense.

Mayor Guthrie, representing one of the warring factions of the republican party, is enforcing the liquor law to the letter. Lately the saloon men have made public a signed agreement Guthrie made with the saloon men before his election. However, he is now revoking licenses at every opportunity and has the police doing double duty. As a result hundreds of people go to Cincinnati on excursions every Sunday seeking pleasure.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of dyspepsia, heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going directly to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and salivary complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

AFTER THE LANDLORDS

TRAVELING MEN WILL REPORT THE CONDITION OF HOTELS VISITED.

DON'T LIK THE THINGS IN KANSAS

There Are 2,400 Members of the U. C. T. in the Sunflower State and They Now Propose to Show Their Hand.

The members of the United Commercial Travelers of this city, and there are quite a few of them, are receiving circular letters from the Topeka U. C. T., asking them to inspect all hotels in their territory as to sanitation and report the same to the state board of health, says the Parsons Sun.

The Topeka United Commercial Travelers' council has taken the initiative in a matter that will be of benefit to every person traveling in Kansas. And it might be added, incidentally, that the move of the council will be a source of worry to not a few hotel keepers in Kansas. All hotels and restaurants in the state in which unsanitary conditions exist are to be reported to the board of health by members of the U. C. T. and it will be up to the board of health to act.

Circular letters are being sent to all of the members of the U. C. T. in the state, asking them to report to a grievance committee all of the hotels and restaurants that need the attention of the sanitary officer. The grievance committee is made up of B. F. Shumate, Reamer Billard and John C. Witt, all of Topeka.

This committee is to look into all complaints and if the complaint be a substantial one the committee will take the matter up with the state board of health. This body under the pure food law has power to act, and has signified its willingness to co-operate with the U. C. T. in cleaning up all unsanitary places where food is served.

There are over 2,400 members of the U. C. T. in Kansas, and with a working force of this kind it is expected that the matter of cleaning up will be confined to a few days at least, for the whole state is covered by this host of workers every week. Traveling men look upon hotels as their homes, and expect them to be as inviting and wholesome as possible. When unsanitary conditions are found or when food is found that is unfit to eat, the members will report at once to the grievance committee, giving the name and address of the proprietor.

400 RUN FROM FANCIED FIRE

Many Palmer House Guests Reach Street in Night Clothes.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Frightened by smoke which penetrated the Palmer house last night from a fire in an adjoining building, 400 guests of the hotel became frightened and fled from the place.

The greater portion of the guests had retired for the night, and many of them reached the street in their night clothes.

It was no danger to the hotel, and in a short time all the guests were back in their rooms.

Judge W. W. Graves visited Nevada the other day and the Mail said:

Judge Graves has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, and when asked if he would be a candidate Judge Graves smiled and said: "The mansion is too big for me and there is no place for my chickens."

Judge Graves is a chicken fancier and his friends say if he had to give up his chickens in order to be governor he would stick to his chickens.

"BOSSIE" FRANCIS AGAIN?

Johnson County Murderer Said to Be in Custody.

"Bossie" Francis has been caught again, according to the officials of Birmingham, Alabama, says the Warrensburg Star. Sometime ago Sheriff Hudson received a letter from the sheriff of that city in which was enclosed a photo of a negro thought to be Francis.

The photo did not look like Bossie and Sheriff Hudson wrote the officers to that effect, and told them if they were certain they had the man and were willing to back their judgment with the money sufficient to guarantee the expense of sending some one there to identify the negro, that he would send some one on once.

Fifty dollars has been received by Sheriff Hudson in favor W. C. Hyatt, and Mr. Hyatt or some one who can identify Bossie will leave on Wednesday for Birmingham. It is to be hoped that "Bossie" has been caught at last. Gov. Folk recently renewed the reward of $300.

AMUSEMENTS

A Packed House Greeted the "Wizard of Wall Street" Company.

The "Wizard of Wall Street," which comes to Wood's opera house
tomorrow night is a light flip of music, graceful movement and pretty girls. The chorus is costumed well, with changes enough to be entertaining. The girls are fresh looking, and young by the calendar. The Kansas City Post says:

Charles Le Roy is hilarious all the time. His song, with chorus, "He Treated Me Right," brought five en-cores, and the stilt-legged dance he does is ridiculous enough to arouse the most serious minded. Richard Hultz does an excellent, Jew impersonation.

The fiery dance led by Aileen
Powers, a Kansas City girl, who did a clever solo in it, with the song by Minnie Hultz, was one of the features of yesterday's performances. With storage batteries they get an alternating current effect, and the girls as they dance flash tiny incandescent lights in their hair and about their dresses. One of the hits was Bonnie Lombard in a Sis Hopkins song. The audience had her back again and again. Kathryn Swan is pleasing in her song with the Cowboy Girls, and her dialogue through the plot of the comedy is clear enough to be heard.
"My Dusky Rose" was the big chorus number. It is tuneful and the dance movement is fascinating. The closing patriotic song by the entire company waving flags pleased the audience sufficiently to make them stay to applaud. The sentiment, "You've Got to Be American to Feel That Way," was loudly approved.

FOUND BABY IN BOTTLE

INFANT HAD BEEN PRESERVED IN ALCOHOL FOR TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

POLICE WERE GREATLY PUZZLED

Custodian of the Corpse Finally Explained Everything Satisfactorily and Consequently No Arrest Was Made.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 4. — Police officers have discovered a baby which for twenty-one years has been preserved in alcohol in a glass jar in a Richmond house.

While engaged in making some repairs to a private residence a stone cutter at work in one of the basement rooms noticed a glass jar
standing on a table, and on closer examination was much shocked to find that the jar contained the body of a baby girl.

The workman notified a passing policeman of his find, and the officer determined to take the jar with him to the station house for a more careful investigation. Meanwhile the occupant of the house, missing the treasured remains, made the charge that her house had been entered and some of her property removed by an officer in uniform.

Coroner Taylor took the bottled baby under his arm and went around to call on the irate woman, assuring the police that he would make every effort to pacify her. The corner was informed that the lady of the house was not the mother of the baby, and that there were no relatives in Virginia. She said the child was born in a far northern state and had been brought to Richmond in a bottle many years ago.

The woman explained that she was keeping the body for a friend,
but that she had about concluded it was giving her bad luck and was disposed to bury it.

After consideration it was decided that the woman had the best claim on the child, and the glass jar was left in her possession.

WILL RED MEN GET PERMIT

For Carnival on Second Street Week of State Fair?

Among the matters to be brought up at tomorrow night's meeting of the city council will be the application of the members of Apache tribe of Red Men to secure a permit to conduct a carnival on East Second street during the week of the state fair, October 5 to 11, inclusive.

The council recently granted the permit. Later a remonstrance from residents of the street was presented and final action was deferred until a later date.

Apache tribe has completed nearly all the arrangements for the carnival,
but until the desired location has been obtained, without any opposition being presented, the details will be withheld from the public.

PILLOWS FOR THE SICK.

Have Plenty of Little Ones to Tuck
in Around an Invalid.

There is no problem more difficult
of solution than how to make a long stay in bed or a convalescing period comfortable for the patient.

Pillows, pillows, pillows, a score or more of them, is the solution, says the Circle. Not full-sized heavy-feather pillows, but small light wool, down, hair, or even balm cushions are the comforts which ease the patient's tired muscles.

They should be in sizes ranging from 10 to 18 inches in length and from 8 to 12 inches wide, or they can be made square. The larger ones are excellent if made of hair and tufted
like a mattress.

These little comfort cushions can be slipped under the neck, at the small
of the back, under the knees or heels,
and placed where a tired arm can rest comfortably upon them; this for the patient in bed.

When the patient is sitting up the pillows can be tucked in all the hollows, and are especially useful in preventing that awful ache where the bend of the knees rests against the chair.

These small pillows also fit nicely
in the hollows of the regular bed pillows when the patient sits up in bed,
and they are convenient for the nurse
to rest her elbow or neck upon if she has to support the patient for any length of time. A good round dozen of these cushions will not be too many
and they will be found an invaluable aid to both nurse and patient.

WAS BOUND AND BEATEN

THEN TURPENTINE WAS POURED
ALL OVER THE BODY OF A MINER.

FIENDISH ACT BY TRIO OF DAGOS

Even if the Victim Lives He Will Be Totally Blind and Will Be Otherwise Disfigured for Remainder of Life.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 4.—Police, constables and citizens today are searching for three Italians who are accused of the most brutal outrage ever perpetrated in this county. Their victim is dying in the local hospital and violence is threatened if his torturers are captured.

James Connelly, a miner at Avella,
was attacked by the trio late, thrown to the ground, bound, gagged and beaten, after which turpentine was poured over his body and into his eyes and nose. He was then carried to the outskirts of the village and turned loose in the woods.

Connelly roamed about all night in the woods suffering agony beyond description. Exhausted, he finally fell in his tracks and was found early in the morning by miners attracted by his frantic moaning. Doctors at the hospital declare that Connelly will probably die, but that if he lives he will be blind in both eyes, will probably lose the use of his nose and will be disfigured for life.

Informations have been made against the fiends responsible for the brutal torture, but they have disappeared.

The exact cause of the assault is a mystery that Connelly has not been able to explain. It is known that his assailants accused him of interfering while they were playing poker, and they used this as an excuse for their attack.

One of the men being sought has been suspected of connection with the Black Hand society, and the police are working on the theory that Connelly is a victim of this murderous band.

WORK OF FIREBUGS

Three Thousand Bushels of Grain Destroyed Near Hannibal.

Hannibal, Mo., Sept. 4.—Dr. Winn
and Arthur Jones, of Ralls county, were in town early yesterday in quest of bloodhounds to run down the fire-bugs who burned 3,000 bushels of wheat on the Dick Glascock farm,
in Salt river bottom.

The grain had been threshed and sacked and all was consumed by the flames. Some acts of vandalism had been perpetrated last Sunday night in the way of cutting sacks, and it is supposed that the act of arson was committed by spite.

Dogs of the kind required not being found here, appeal was made to the towns of La Grange and Kanoka.

House Eleven Hundred Years Old.

St. Albans possesses the oldest inhabited house in England. This distinction is said to belong to the old
Round House, now the Fighting Cocks
Inn, which stands close to the River
Ver. It is a curious structure, of octagonal shape, of early Saxon origin, having been built as a boathouse to the ancient monastery founded at St.
Albans by King Offa about the year
795, and is thus over 1,100 years old.
A subterranean passage, now blocked up, runs from the basement to the ruins of the monastery, a distance of about 200 yards. There is a shed at the back of the house where it is said
Oliver Cromwell stabled his horse, himself sleeping under its roof during the civil war.

Revenue From Playing Cards.

One result of the Austrian's love of gambling is the nice little sum of $150,000 which the ministry of finance derived last year from the tax on playing cards. Ten manufacturers, employing 236 hands, turned out 1,578,000
packs of cards in 1906, an average of a pack for every two families in the country. These cards were of different varieties—152,000 for tarock, 765, 000 for German games, 439,000 for pique, 107,000 whist, and 113,000 for other games, including the Italian
"tressetti." Of the total, 238,000
packs, about 15 per cent, were glazed
so that they could be washed. An immense number of cards were exported, chiefly to Turkey, Africa and India.

Protected by Flowers.

"You have filled your fire escape up so with your flowers that you'd never get out in case of fire, would you?"
asked they.

"No," she replied, "but they are a great protection from burglars, you see. Any burglar that tried to come up that fire escape and get in at that window would have to knock them down first."

A FAIR WOMAN SMILED

While Requesting Trainmen to Release Her Hand.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 4.—With her fingers caught between the vestibule of two Pullman cars standing at the Union station here Miss Elizabeth Mourning, of Campbellsville, stood smiling and explained to the train-men that a hasty uncoupling of the cars to release her fingers would be appreciated.

Although suffering intensely, Miss Mourning displayed rare pluck, and without a murmur of complaint waited patiently for a couple of minutes
until the Pullmans could be uncoupled and her fingers released.

The accident was caused by the failure of the curtains of the vestibule to be pinned, and Miss Mourning rested her left hand on one of the vestibules as she talked to her companion.

Despite the protest of her friends,
who insisted that she remain here
and have her hand treated, she continued her journey home.

BRIDE WEPT AND GROOM "FUMED"

It Was All in Vain, However, as the English Parson Proceeded With His Reading and Another
Divine Was Called.

London, Sept. 4.—There was an amazing scene at a wedding in a country church in Somersetshire. The vicar, Rev. James Taylor, insisted on reading the burial and baptismal services instead of the marriage services, and other clergymen had to be called in to complete the ceremony.
The bride and bridegroom are persons of good family and well known in the district. The bridegroom, describing the scene, said:

"When the bride arrived Mr. Taylor commenced, saying something which,
though I tried to follow it in my prayer book, I could not understand. Presently I heard him mutter, 'I commit these people to the ground; earth to earth.' The bride began weeping, and I said, 'That is not right.'

"He bade me keep quiet, and then proceeded, 'I baptise these people with water.' Then he exclaimed,
'Why don't you answer?' I said,
'When you start in a proper way I will.'

"My bride was now weeping bitterly, and it is a wonder she did not entirely collapse, while several of her friends in the church were crying."

Various efforts made to induce Mr.
Taylor to go on with the ceremony properly were unavailing, and finally other clergymen, notified by friends of the bride and bridegroom, arrived
and one of them tied the nuptial knot.
The whole affair lasted over two hours.

The bishop of the diocese has written to the bridegroom regretting the vicar's disgraceful conduct and condition, saying that Mr. Taylor had been suspended pending an investigation.

A CITY ORCHARD.

Good Results One Man Obtained from Few Trees.

Ten years ago I was called upon by an agent who persuaded me to plant
a few fruit trees in my garden, writes
a correspondent of Farm and Home.
Skeptical as I was as to whether they would thrive, I at last consented to get a dozen, consisting of two cherry,
five plum, four apples and one pear.

I set them out in rows about 20 feet apart, the apple trees 20 feet in the row and between them a plum or cherry. This left 10 feet between the trees, but as space was not plentiful,
I had to economize. The soil was a clay loam, formerly old pasture and the drainage was good, the garden
sloping to the east.

Before setting I cut back the broken roots and also cut about one-third of the top back to some of the strongest buds. The trees were set upright in holes, the roots being carefully spread out and covered with rich surface soil, after which a shovelful of manure was put around and the rest of the soil replaced.

The garden was then made up around the trees, gooseberry and currant slips were set between them and beans, peas and other shallow rooted vegetables were planted, the soil being well manured. The trees grew luxuriantly, some of them making 2 to 3 feet and each season since they have continued to grow strong and stocky.

They have been pruned each year
by removal of crooked and surplus branches and the shortening of some of the more vigorous ones, but no severe cutting out has been necessary.
The trees began to bear two years after setting and the past season produced a splendid crop. Aside from the financial results of this investment,
the pleasure received and the information gained, cannot be counted in dollars and cents.

Propagating Raspberries.

When the new-growth tips of black-cap raspberries begin to bend toward the ground, new plants can be easily started. Bend down and bury each tip
a few inches beneath the ground,
holding it in place by pegs, a stone,
or the weight of a little heaped-up soil, says Farm Journal. Most of the tips, if not disturbed, will take root
and form nice plants by next spring;
at which time the parent canes can be severed a few inches from the new plants, and the latter can then be dug up and set out wherever desired.

GIRL MISSING; MAY BE DEAD

Mother Attacked and Beat Daugh-

Elkhart, Ind., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Charles F. Drenk last Saturday caught her daughter, Henrietta, in company with Richard son of Edward Swaffield, a city councilman, after she had forbidden him to keep company with the girl.

The daughter fled at the approach of her mother, saying that she would kill herself. Mrs. Drenk took young Swaffield by the throat, it is claimed,
and proceeded to administer a severe thrashing to him on the public street.
She blacked his eye and smashed his nose and left him in a semi-conscious condition.

Meanwhile the girl had disappeared, and diligent search by the police has failed to locate her. The police dragged the St. Joe river in hope of finding the girl's body. The mother is distracted. She objected to young Swaffield keeping company with her daughter on account of the girl's age.
She is but 15 years old.

Theft of Horse and Buggy.

11 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Christian was down town on business, and tied the horse to a post near the saloon. He attended to some business in the vicinity and returned about fifteen minutes later to find the horse and buggy missing.

Chief of Police Boult was notified, and he at once had cards printed for the apprehension of the thief.

WOMAN'S CRUELTY
TO WOMAN

"Here is a story of real life in New York that makes me proud of my sex," said the young man who smokes.
"It is the story of a woman's act of inhumanity that no man on earth would be guilty of."

"A widow who had been employed by a large firm was obliged to give up her position on account of illness.
She was out of work a long time—so long that all the money she had saved was used to support the family. As a climax to her hard luck one of the children died. The woman was then broke, and she went to the cashier of the firm where she had been employed and asked for a loan of $25. He was a kindly old chap, and let her have it.
Six months passed and the woman, on account of continued illness, had been unable to repay the money. At that stage of the game the cashier's wife learned for the first time of the transaction."

"What did she borrow money for you?" she demanded.

"The man tried to explain, but his wife refused to see matters in a charitable light."

"She has no right to owe you money," she said. "We need it ourselves. She shall pay it back."

"Forthwith she instituted a system of dunning. Three times a week she

She Went to the Cashier and Asked for a Loan of $25.

wrote, asking for the return of the money. The widow was distracted.
Another child, a cripple, was ill, and every penny she could scrape together
was needed for actual living expenses.
The cashier tried to plead the woman's cause. His family counted money in tens of dollars where the debtor counted in cents. He hoped to gain some mercy for her, but all his entrealties only hardened his wife's heart
the more. She was an excellent woman, too, mind you, sympathetic in most of the affairs of life, and generous where her own charities were concerned, but the mere fact that another woman had borrowed money
from her husband turned her into a regular devil. The widow, being so

BREACH OF PROPRIETY

Rather Than Morals Said to Have Angered King Edward.

London, Sept. 4.—The explanation previously given of the incident of King Edward quitting a theater at Marienbad suggested that his majesty had assumed a role to which he would probably be the last person
to lay any claim.

Details now at hand indicate that the King's displeasure was due to a breach of good manners rather than good morals. The song to which he objected concerned Abbott Boelmar,

of the Monastery of Tepl, who has frequently been the king's guest and who was his host one day last week.

In view of the fact that pretty nearly the whole of Marienbad is owned by the monastery the song
had previously been prohibited by Prince Liechtenstein. The title was
"The Priest and the Countess," and so far as morals were concerned it was no worse or better than many
I have seen the king thoroughly enjoying on his occasional visits to Paris.

A KENTUCKIAN TOUCHED

HE WENT TO NEW YORK AND WAS ATTRACTED TO PRETTY YOUNG WOMAN.

AN ELDERLY WOMAN WITH LATTER

Chivalrous Kentuckian Has a Brief but Costly Interview With "Miss Dainty Iniquity" in Gotham.

New York, Sept. 4.—Miss "Dainty Iniquity," the young woman who prowls near the big hotels waiting for an opportunity to get the pocket books of the unwary, in a perfectly ladylike way, of course, was abroad Monday night, with all her sisters, and of these there are many.

Briscoe Hindman, 50 years old, a man of considerable prominence in Louisville, and at present staying at the Waldorf-Astoria, was a victim early Tuesday morning. Mr. Hindman was held up in the Astor court, the thoroughfare which runs from Thirty-fourth to Thirty-third street, and extending past the hotel.

The deft-fingered young woman took his pocketbook, from which she removed a wallet and took $275. She replaced the wallet in the pocketbook and the pocketbook in the pocket.

It was all so neatly done that Mr. Hindman did not know it until he entered the hotel and called for a beverage. Then he discovered that he had no money to pay for it. By that time the sweet faced young thing was hitting the breeze like a Futurity winner racing down to the wire.

Mr. Hindman went to dinner Monday evening. Some time after dining he passed over Thirty-third street and was just about to turn in at the hotel when he was accosted by a demure maid who was accompanied by a respectable looking elderly woman, who might have been taken as a copy for Samantha Allen.

The maids who gambol about beyond the outer walls of the Waldorf are often accompanied by these elderly women, who may be referred to as "escort women." Their presence tends to divert suspicion. Sort of mother-and-daughter act.

Naturally Mr. Hindman's suspicions were not aroused by this nice pair. They stopped him and the young woman asked demurely how they could get a view of the roof garden. She had heard that unescorted women were not allowed to go up.

Was that correct? Mr. Hindman is from the Old Commonwealth and those who have been there or met Kentuckians away from home know that they are a very chivalrous lot. If he had been a little less chivalrous in this case he might still have his money. The young woman thanked him for his information and turned away, the little bit of information having cost Mr. Hindman $275, which is rather dear for that kind of information. That his money should have been removed so neatly is no great wonder, for these young Janizaries could remove a handkerchief if it was surrounded by bells without ringing any of them.

LICENSING SOAP CLUBS

Butler and Warrensburg Are Moving in That Direction.

Butler is not the only town in the state where the merchants are brought into competition with "soap clubs," organized by women who work mighty hard for a cheap premium, says the Butler Democrat.

At Warrensburg a correspondent of the Star is calling on the city council to pass an ordinance compelling the organizers of these clubs to pay a city license.

The organization of these clubs has developed into quite a business and there is no doubt but what they make considerable trade from the local merchants.

The women who organize these clubs are really only agents or outside concerns and sell goods the same as other agents, and there is no good reason why they should not pay license the same as other peddlers.

STONE BACK FROM JAPAN

THE MISSOURI SENATOR MADE A TOUR OF THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

HE ALSO JOURNEYED INTO KOREA

Himself and Wife Left Seattle, Wash., Last May, and Reached San Francisco on the Return Trip Tuesday.

San Francisco, Sept. 4.—Senator William J. Stone, of Missouri, arrived yesterday on the steamer Hongkong Maru from a tour of the Orient. He was accompanied by Mrs. Stone and daughter.

They left Seattle last May with ex-Senator Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota. They visited the principal cities of China and made a thorough tour of the Philippines, Korea and Japan.

Senator Stone is a member of the senate committee on the Philippines and the trip was for the purpose of acquainting himself with conditions in the archipelago.

Senator General Smith told us that we had covered the islands more thoroughly than anybody else from congress," said Senator Stone today. "We traveled all over the islands and gathered much information. Afterward we went to Korea and Japan. Korea is owned absolutely by Japan, as absolutely as we own the Philippines."

"There is a very settled purpose in high circles in Japan to make Japan dominant over the Orient. The question for Americans to consider in the future is not what we can get in the Orient, but what we can hold in the Occident."

"While in Japan we were permitted to have an audience with the emperor, whom we found very sociable and agreeable. All over Japan we heard only the kindest expressions regarding the United States, but we understand the feeling has softened."

St. Joseph's Academy Opens.

St. Joseph's academy, under the supervision of the Rev. Fr. McNamee and the Sisters, was reopened for the fall and winter term Tuesday, the attendance being about the same as on the opening day last year. In future, the two higher grades will not be taught, the students so desiring entering the High school after they have finished the tenth grade in the academy.

Council Tomorrow Night.

The city council will meet in adjourned session tomorrow night instead of tonight, as previously stated.

REGARDING RAILROADS

A REPORT MADE ON THE CONDITION OF THE IRON MOUNTAIN RAILWAY.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

The state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners Tuesday filed a report of its recent inspection of the main line and branches of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad, covering the 400 miles of track in this state.

After going into details the board orders that the company be notified to correct all defects within ninety days, and that a speed-limit of twenty miles an hour be maintained over the following divisions of the main line until they are put in good condition: Poplar Bluff to Rock Ballast; Rock Ballast to Arkansas state line; milepost 77 to milepost 78; milepost 78 to milepost 83. All three members of the commission signed the report.

The report finds that 19 miles of the 136 from St. Louis to the Arkansas line is not in good condition for high speed, and orders reconstruction within ninety days. Until this is done the trains must not be run to exceed twenty miles an hour. One stretch of this nineteen miles runs from Bismark to Middlebrook. The other thirteen miles are south of Poplar Bluff.

The remainder of the main line within the state the board finds, the report says, to be in fair condition, and that the statutory requirements as to safety and high speed are met. The report makes reference to inadequate station facilities at Poplar Bluff.

The Doniphan branch, which is nineteen miles in length, is pronounced safe for the maintenance of the fifteen mile schedule, at which trains are now operated, but the track, the report declares, is overgrown with weeds.

The Cairo branch, from Poplar Bluff to Bird's Point, a distance of seventy-four miles, is said to be in good condition. The Belmont branch, from Columbus to Bismark, a distance of 121 miles, is in need of betterment from this junction with the main line.

Will Hold Another Meeting.

The conference of the officials of the M. K. & T. railway and the grievance committees of the employees adjourned yesterday morning, says Tuesday's Parsons Sun, and the men returned to their homes on different parts of the system. Another meeting will be held in a few weeks.

The officials of the M. K. & T. have been in the city for a month meeting the committees of the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Certain schedules have been under consideration, being left over from the spring meeting. The business has been discussed with amity.

A. D. Bethard, assistant general manager, started yesterday for his home in Dallas, Texas; T. S. McDowell, general superintendent for Texas, went to Dallas, and E. M. Alvord, general superintendent, went to Joplin on a short business tripp.

Chairman Whitney, of the O. R. C., went to his home in Sedalia; Chairman Williams, of the B. of R. T., went to his home in Hillsboro, and Chairman Corrigan, of the Engineers, went to his home in Smithville.

Another meeting will be held in Parsons in a few weeks. The gentlemen who have been in conference must get back to their work for a while, and then they will return to the meeting again.

THIS IS QUITE ROMANTIC

Note in Bottle in Missouri River Ends in Wedding.

Formal announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Amelia Mock, of this city, to Mr. Charles Stein, of Hannville, La., to take place tomorrow at the bride's home on Water street says the Boonville Democrat of Tuesday.

No invitations were issued and only immediate relatives of the family are to be present.

This marriage is the culmination of the bride's desire for romance. More than a year ago she placed a note containing her name and an invitation to the finder to write her in a bottle and throw it in the Missouri river here.

Several months later it was found by Mr. Stein floating down the Mississippi river opposite the state of Louisiana. He followed the instructions in the note and a correspondence resulted that will end in their marriage here tomorrow.

UNSEASONABLE WEATHER

Cauers an Epidemic of Typhoid Fever in Bracken County.

Auguste, Ky., Sept. 4.—Typhoid fever is raging in Bracken county in the severest form, several deaths having occurred so far.

There are more than thirty cases in this city and vicinity, forty in Milford and vicinity and many cases in various parts of the county.

One of the leading physicians claims that there are more than 100 cases in the county at this time, and gave the unusual weather conditions and heavy rains, polluting the streams by surface drainage, as the principal cause of the epidemic.

WIFE SLAIN, HOUSE LOOTED

What a Nebraska Farmer Found When He Returned Home.

Beatrice, Neb., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Jacob Martin, wife of a farmer living about eight miles southeast of Cortland, was killed yesterday afternoon by an unidentified person.

The body was found lying under the bed at her home by Martin, who had been away several hours attending the primary election. She was about 45 years old. It is supposed the crime was committed about 4 o'clock. The slayer after looting the house took a horse.
